

Welcome to my Digital Garden

Welcome to my Digital Garden

This page on Ness Labs succinctly summarizes what a "Digital Garden" is

A digital garden is an online space at the intersection of a notebook and a blog, where digital gardeners share seeds of thoughts to be cultivated in public. Contrary to a blog, where articles and essays have a publication date and start decaying as soon as they are published, a digital garden is evergreen: digital gardeners keep on editing and refining their notes.

I've always struggled with what to take notes in. I landed on Obsidian a while back, and have been slowly building out my personal notebook. It's not perfect by any means, but it is straightforward, and the notes are just Markdown files for easy use elsewhere.

About Me

I'm currently a Senior Cloud Solution Architect at Microsoft, specializing in Security, Compliance and Identity. You can find me in all the usual places like LinkedIn

